NASA Eclipse 2017 Live - Streaming Video of August 21 Total Solar Eclipse

On Monday, August 21, 2017, all of North America will be treated to an eclipse of the sun. Viewers around the world will be provided a wealth of images captured before, during, and after the eclipse by 11 spacecraft, at least three NASA aircraft, more than 50 high-altitude balloons, and the astronauts aboard the International Space Station – each offering a unique vantage point for the celestial event.

Live video streams of the August 21 total solar eclipse, from NASA Television and locations across the country, will be available on this page.

12 p.m. EDT - Eclipse Preview Show, hosted from Charleston, South Carolina.

1 p.m. EDT - Solar Eclipse: Through the Eyes of NASA.

This show will cover the path of totality the eclipse will take across the United States, from Oregon to South Carolina. The program will feature views from NASA research aircraft, high-altitude balloons, satellites and specially-modified telescopes. It also will include live reports from Charleston, as well as from Salem, Oregon; Idaho Falls, Idaho; Beatrice, Nebraska; Jefferson City, Missouri; Carbondale, Illinois; Hopkinsville, Kentucky; and Clarksville, Tennessee.

Here in Muscogee County, the eclipse will begin at approximately 1:07 p.m. and end at 4:04 p.m. The near-total eclipse will occur between 2:35 and 2:40 p.m. and last approximately two minutes.

Richards Middle School is planning to make this day a special educational event for our students by organizing safe and engaging educational experiences. Instructional activities will include watching the eclipse via live-streaming on the web or TV, and participating in activities in class that will enhance their understanding of what is going on.

Please join us on Tuesday, August 22 for our School-Wide Open House. Parents and students will meet in the gym for a short welcome, and then you will be able to walk through your students schedule – this is not a time for parent/teacher conferences – it is designed to allow you to meet your student’s teachers face-to-face and have a brief introduction to what their day is like. Student schedules will be sent home on Tuesday, August 22.
