

Type in Clever search box “zoom” you will download the software. Then set it up. I sent a link to my kids thru dojo to sign in. You can schedule a meeting or open a meeting and invite people to chat with you. Either works. The students/parents will have to open the link and enter a password that is provided.

There is a cool feature that allows you to have a “whiteboard” that the students can see so you can write like a dry erase board. You can also “share screens” to show them something on your computer.

Have a great day!
